

Corporate videos

A well-made corporate video can be a fantastic asset to your business. You can use it to promote your firm, sell your products and services, or simply provide information about how to set up and use your products.

The video production process usually starts with a script and/or storyboard, which is where Black & Write can help. We're expert scriptwriters, with experience of both creating scripts and storyboards from scratch, and of copy editing existing material. Recent projects we've worked on include:

- About 60 promotional and information-based films for a university's website
- User guide scripts for an energy company and a DIY product manufacturer
- Sales-oriented scripts for a corporate energy business and a tax advice service
- A script and story board for a Nottingham charity's online video.

We also offer:

- Scriptwriting and storyboarding for radio, TV and website video adverts .
- Complete end-to-end video production packages tailored to your requirements.

Contact us

Please contact us to discuss your scriptwriting and video requirements, or if you'd like to see our scriptwriting portfolio.